THE HOTTEST DAY.

THE MERCURY IN NEW YORK AND RICHMOND.

Complaints About the Intense Heat--The Crops in Virginia Suffering From the Drought.

NEW YORK, July 16.—This is the hottest day of the season, the thermometer reaching 102° in the shade.

RICHMOND, Va., July 16.—To-day is the hottest of the season, although the past two weeks have been excessively hot and dry. There has been no rain of any consequence for more than a month. The thermometer to-day ranged between 98° and 104° in the shade. Reports from points of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and from other sections of this State as well as West Virginia, indicate a similar condition. The drought is affecting the crops to a considerable extent. Many of the small water courses are entirely dried up, and the people, in some cases, have to drive their cattle a long distance for water. A number of mills in the surrounding country have suspended operations on account of the scarcity of water, The James river, just above the city, is so low that it can be crossed at various points without the wetting of shoes. With all this, however, there have been no cases of sunstroke reported.

Hanlon's Movements.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16.—Hanlon, accompanied by D. Ward, James H. Easley and D. E. Shaw, arrived from Niagara, at 6 o'clock, last evening. He was met a short distance out in the lake by a large fleet of steamers and yachts, all of which were crowded with people, and escorted to the city. The wharves along the route were densely packed with spectators, who welcomed him with cheers. In the evening he visited the horticultural hall, where a large crowd was present to witness "Pinafore." Between acts Hanlon was presented with an address by Mayor Beattie on behalf of the citizens, to which he very briefly replied.

The Cotton Spinners Idle.

LONDON, July 16.—In Burnley there are 5,795 looms idle out of 33,000, and 307,870 spindles out of 900,000. In the Blackburn district 11,300 looms are idle out of 52,000. Eighty-four thousand spindles are working on short time, and 48,000 have stopped altogether. In the Charley district 1,600 looms, owned by two firms, are working on short time. Nearly twenty other firms are running a part of their machinery on short time, several have stopped entirely). In the Bury district, both woolen and cotton trades are very depressed. The average time of working in the woolen manufactories is only four days out of a week, and 406,000 spindles and 3,720 looms are working on short time.

Wisconsin Greenbackers.

MILWAUKEE, July 16.—The Sentinel's Watertown special says: "The National Greenback party of Wisconsin held its annual convention in that place yesterday and nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Colonel May, of Vernon; for Lieutenant Governor, W. Lutlay, of Racine; for Secretary of State, G. W. Lee, of Grant; for Attorney General, G. B. Goodwine, of Milwaukee; for Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. H. Searles, of Marathon; for State Treasurer, P. A. Griffith. No Germans were named on the ticket, though they claimed representation. The convention was largely attended and very enthusiastic. The platform adopted did not differ very essentially from that adopted at the convention two years ago.

Disease in Russia.

LONDON, July 16.—A Berlin dispatch to the Times, says that the cholera has made its appearance in the government of Smolensk. A terrible epidemic of diphtheria continues its ravages in Bessarabia, where the rescript of the Governor is published ordering the universal fumigation of the dwellings and clothing of the peasantry. The rescript states that the epidemic has now been raging for seven years, carrying to the grave in some districts almost all the rising generation.

Ending of the Scare.

MEMPHIS, July 16.—No new cases of yellow fever have been reported to-day, and no deaths have occurred since the last report.

The only restrictions against Memphis freights now enforced are by the Memphis and Little Rock and Mississippi Central Railroads. All the other roads have revoked their quarantine orders. The merchants report a rush of business, and a general feeling of hopefulness exists as to the future. The physicians now say that young Ray will recover. Dr. Henning, who was reported as having left the city, returned the next day with his family, and resumed the practice of his profession. No new cases have been reported for a week.

Drouth in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, July 16.—There has been no rain in this section to do any good to the crops for two months. Corn in many places is literally burnt up and will not average one-fourth of a crop. Cotton is very much behind. The weed is very small yet, but it is fruiting well for the size of the stalk. This has been the hottest and driest weather since 1839.

PENNSYLVANIA POLITICS.

The Randall-Tilden Faction a Factor in Keystone Politics.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 15.—Delegates are slowly straggling in, and the convention talk is somewhat more spirited. The leaders here have concocted a platform of eight resolutions, which, being accepted by the Barre people, will, in all likelihood, become the creed of the party. They are: "First—Approving the course of the Democrats in Congress in the efforts to repeal the test oath and subvert what they call 'bayonet rule.' Second—Condemning the frequent use of the veto power by which a fraudulent administration obstructs the will of the people. Third—The affirmation of the power of the General Government to issue paper money as well as coin. Fourth—Upon the expiration of the charters of the National banks, soon to occur, the Government shall then issue Treasury notes redeemable in coin and receivable for all dues at their par value. Fifth—Declaring that silver shall be placed on an equality with gold, and that the various denominations of silver shall be raised to a gold standard and, further, that the restoration of silver as a money metal is immediately demanded by wise statesmanship. Sixth—Denouncing contract convict labor and demanding legislation against Coolie immigration. Seventh—Denouncing the Republican Legislature recently adjourned, for extravagance and corruption, and for extending its session so far beyond the requirements of public necessity."

To these resolutions, B. F. Meyers, of the Patriot, will endeavor to add one for the limitation of a day's work to eight hours; and it is probable that another will be inserted denouncing the veto of the repeal of the United States election supervisors' law. The proceedings of the convention will be merely perfunctory to ratify the nomination, already made by the majority of the county conventions, of Daniel G. Blair for State Treasurer. This gentleman, with his Pittsburg supporters, is already domiciled at Holton, where R. Milton, chairman of the State central committee, is quartered, and where Mr. George McGowan has fixed himself in the preparation of a crushing blow for Vaux and his friends, of the new Randall-Tilden faction.

PENNSYLVANIA GREENBACK CONVENTION.

ALTOONA, Pa., July 15.—The National Greenback Labor Party of this State held its convention here to-day, 130 delegates being present. Chairman Frank P. Dewees, of the State Committee, in opening the proceedings, made an argument against any coalition with either of the old parties. Thomas A. Armstrong, of Allegheny, was elected temporary chairman. Congressman Seth H. Yocum, of Pa., made a speech condemning both the Republican and Democratic parties as common foes of the national welfare. Samuel R. Mason, of Mercer, was chosen permanent chairman. The names of Henry Carey Baird, of Philadelphia, S. S Weller, of Wilkesbarre, Warren C. Plummer, of Crawford, and Judge Peter Sutton, of Indiana, were then placed in nomination as candidates for State Treasurer. All the names except that of Baird were afterward withdrawn, and that gentleman was nominated by acclamation, with three hearty cheers.

A platform was then adopted embodying the principles and doctrines of the Greenback party, and also demanding the abolition by State law of the store order and truck system, and compelling the payment of all wages due laborers at regular stated rates and in the lawful money of the United States; the prevention of all combinations, discriminations or the granting of rebates by transportation companies, and compelling common carriers to furnish the service for the same price to all men. Also demanding a specific tariff on all raw materials produced here; that the hours of labor shall be reduced to eight hours per day; denouncing any attempt at a coalition with any other party.

THE HEBREW CONVENTION TAKES IMPORTANT ACTION.

Land Secured for Hebrew Colonies in the South and West---A Hebrew College also Proposed.

Philadelphia Record.

The twenty-two delegates from this city to the sixth National Convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, held in New York last week, have returned home. The President of the Convention, a Philadelphian, Mr. William B. Hackenburg, says, in speaking of the Convention's work, that for many years some of the prominent men in the Hebrew organizations have been struggling to prepare a way for advancing the interests of the poorer classes of their people in earning an independent livelihood. A large number of the Jewish immigrants who arrive here from time to time are poor farmers, not accustomed to mercantile pursuits, and find difficulty in establishing themselves, as there are few Israelites in this country engaged in farming.

The aim, therefore, has been to establish colonies of poor Jewish people acquainted with the art of tilling the soil and furnishing them with land and means to start with. Upon this matter the Convention took decided action, and appointed a committee to immediately prepare a plan for forming a colony in the South and another in the West. The committee is now at work, and as soon as the detailed plan upon which the colonies are to work shall have been determined upon the colonies will be formed. Already the committee has secured 500 acres of land in the South and 1,000 in the West.

A committee appointed to establish a national college at Cincinnati has commenced operations, and proposes in a short time to receive students. The object of the college is to afford to Jewish students facilities for obtaining a complete education in Hebrew literature and prepare them for the ministry. The institution will be entirely free and open to Christians who desire to become Hebrew scholars. There are now preparatory schools in New York and Cincinnati in which several students are preparing for the college course. The preliminaries are under way for establishing a similar school in this city. The examination before admissions to the college will be strict and severe.

The Convention was the first since the Amalgamation Council held in Milwaukee last year. Previous to this Council there was a difference between the Hebrews of the East and those of the West, and they did not work together. This dispute was amicably settled, and at the last Convention a harmonious spirit prevailed throughout, and all of the work performed now will be under the supervision of their committees. The body was the largest ever held in this country, numbering about 175, and was composed of the most influential Hebrews in the country.

The Union succeeds the old Board of Delegates, who were found to be unable to cope with the great work imposed upon them. Mr. Hackenburg is chairman of a Committee on Statistics, and he has been for three years preparing a report upon the condition and number of Hebrews in this country. He says he has discovered that pauperism is almost entirely abolished among his people, and when the colonies are started it will be entirely so.

FISH BONES KILL AN ELEPHANT.

An Admiring Public Responsible for its Death.

Although provided with intestinal organs equal to a feed cutter, it has been demonstrated that an elephant cannot digest everything. The African female elephant that died at the Zoological Garden last week was dissected by Dr. Chapman, who found in her stomach a rare collection of sticks, pebbles, fish bones, etc., that had evidently been presented to her by an admiring public on the Fourth of July. This will be used probably hereafter as an argument why Independence day should be abolished. In the meanwhile the keepers of the Zoo will present a quarter section of shoe leather or a handsome, stout club to any visitor found feeding the elephant with fish bones, sticks, pebbles or any other light diet. This was a young beast, and is mourned by its next best friend, the male African elephant, and the numerous stockholders of the Garden.

A sprightly, sportive beast was this,
Whose life seemed made of perfect bliss,
Until the bones of a mackerel fish
Did puncture its liver, and did dish
This elephant, which immediately gamboled nimbly up the golden stair to meet its ancestors.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S.

A PEEP INTO THE WHITE HOUSE ON BUSINESS DAYS.

The People who Go to See the De Facto President---What they Do and Say ---The National Budget.

Washington Star.

There is probably no man in the country who does more work than the President. Quite certainly no man in the country does more irritating and aggravating work than the President. It is pleasant enough to receive a social call or to shake hands with a friend; but when shaking hands becomes a duty and receiving all sorts of callers a necessity, the pleasure of the thing dwindles most magnificently. President Hayes begins work shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning. He then appears in situated in the right wing of the White House. This is a large apartment, plainly but handsomely furnished. It is on the second floor and opens into the hall, and looks from its windows at the rear upon the well-kept grounds and the Potomac beyond; also upon the alleged Washington monument. The White House, especially this room, is excellently ventilated. Even in the most sultry summer days there is always a pleasant breeze blowing through. The President sits in a cane-seated chair at a polished table about fifteen feet long and five broad. His face is to the door. To his left, near the wall, sits Mr. Webb Hayes. Back of the President is Mr. Gustin, his stenographer. Around the room are chairs and one or two sofas. There is but one picture on the walls—a life-sized portrait of George Washington, painted by a South American artist, and presented by the President of the United States of Colombia.

THE "PRESIDENT'S ROOM,"

THE WHITE HOUSE CALLERS.

Although the President is ready to receive callers at an early hour he never finds the visitors wanting. Members of Congress and the President's advisers walk past the doorkeeper without showing their cards. Other visitors must first send their cards in by Charley Loeffler, the doorkeeper. Sometimes there are as many as twenty people in the room at a time. Members of Congress take their turn at talking to the President in the order in which they entered the room, keeping the tally themselves. The President indicates to the others when he is ready to hear them. The interviews are short or long, generally the former. When the President desires to consult without interruption with callers they retire to the library adjoining. Everybody who calls is received except those upon business strictly pertaining to the different departments, such as minor appointments. The President positively refuses to hear applicants for such places. They are referred to the departments. It is his rule not to interfere in any appointments in the departments. The people he receives during the day up to half-past two in the afternoon, generally average about two hundred.

WHAT THEY WANT.

As a general rule each caller is on a different business. Delegations sometimes take eight or ten in on the same mission—except Baltimore delegations, which split up when they get before the President, and each man urges separate candidates. The number of people who call to "pay respects and shake hands" is great and growing. They mumble something, seize the President's hand and depart. It is a great thing for the principals of female seminaries in the adjoining States to bring on to Washington whole batteries of beauty and bring them to bear upon the President. Bridal parties are quite numerous. Sometimes they announce to the President that they are newly married, but whether they do or not that fact is perfectly apparent. When no attempt at the concealment of their happiness is made, the President presents the blooming, blushing bride with a flower from the large, fragrant bouquet which is always on his table. When concealment is intended he looks unconscious, while the groom looks remarkably conscious. The President pays a good deal of attention to bridal parties, evidently remembering the time when he was a happy and fortunate groom. Another class of visitors are excursionists by the hundreds. These and large delegations are received in the East room. There are frequently as many as five hundred people in one of these excursions. The member of Congress whose constituents they are, arranges with the President for their reception. He gets them in line, and as they file by the President the member introduces each one and makes lots of votes for the next time.

THE HAND-SHAKING BUSINESS.

There is something peculiar about this shaking hands with the President of the United States, and there are peculiar ways of going through that greeting. Some folks seize the President's hand in both of theirs; others merely touch the tips of his fingers; some grab him above the wrist, and then others think the harder they press the hand the greater is the honor they enjoy. The old ladies always stop to ask how Mrs. Hayes is, and when Mrs. Hayes assists the President in the reception all the ladies, both young and old, invariably look back after passing to see what she has on. The old men want to add a word or too of advice on political management as they pass, and the young man, when from rural parts, tries to appear as if he made a practice of being introduced to Presidents every day. About half-past two the President takes lunch. He then returns to his room and looks over the mail that concerns his official business. This mail is always briefed and laid on the table ready for his inspection. He directs what answers, if any, shall be sent.

SOME MORE CALLERS.

Then the persons whom he has made arrangements to see during the afternoon arrive. When they have left he always takes a drive, unless the weather prohibits. He returns from the drive in time for dinner. After dinner there are more visitors to be seen—visitors whose business would occupy more than the time that could conveniently be given during the day. The President is seldom able to join his family after dinner. Frequently the only time that he has with the family is before he goes to work in the morning, at lunch, and at dinner. This is about the day's routine at the house during the busy Congressional days. During the summer the President drives in from the Soldier's Home about 10 in the morning, and leaves early in the afternoon. He has but few callers. A great many people go out to the Home to see him on business, later in the day.

THE CABINET MEETINGS.

On Tuesdays and Fridays there are cabinet meetings. The members of the cabinet drop in one by one, but they are all on hand by twelve o'clock. Each member brings his portfolio. The President sits at the head of the table and Secretary Schurz at the foot; on the right next to the President is the Secretary of State, next to him the Secretary of War and beyond him the Postmaster General. On the left next to the President sits the Secretary of the Treasury, the next to him the Secretary of the Navy, and next to the Secretary of the Interior on that side the Attorney General. After the cabinet meets it is ten or fifteen minutes before the members get to work. That ten minutes is taken up in greetings and off-hand talk, in which the spirit of fun and humor crops out a good deal. The cabinet are all men with a sunny, fun-loving side when out of official harness. Judge Key is perhaps the jolliest, though the Attorney General pushes him hard for that distinction. Secretary Thompson is a proverbial lover of a pleasant joke, while Secretary Schurz is hardly equalled in telling one. Secretary McCrary is a good story teller. Secretary Sherman does not indulge in humor often, but when he does, it is, on account of its unexpected character, the more enjoyable. Secretary Evarts is one of those of the quietly humorous sort. His fund of dry humor and wit is inexhaustible, and though not uproarious is keenly enjoyable. The President has probably the heartiest Cabinet that any President ever assembled around him. The old bores who keep at them day by day are unmercifully dealt with by the heads of the departments when they assemble. The Attorney General seems to take a peculiar light in joking Secretary Thompson. At a recent Cabinet meeting the Naval Secretary took with him a list of midshipmen who had passed their examination, The Secretary called attention to them and said he would like that their nomination for promotion to ensign be sent to the Senate as soon as possible "as they are worthy young men who have thoroughly earned their spurs." "Mr. Thompson," interrupted Mr. Devens, "how long since have they been wearing spurs in the navy?" At a latter meeting the Attorney General announced that there was a story afloat of a character so derogatory to the inland marine Secretary that it ought to be met. Judge Key called out "let's have it!" "It was when he was first made Secretary of the Navy," proceeded Judge Devens willingly. "A committee from the navy-yard invited him to go down on a visit of inspection. He was taken through the different shops and works, and finally on board a man-of-war, which was lying at the wharf. After being shown over the different parts the captain stopped by the hatchway, and asked the Secretary to look down. Thompson took a look of some length, and finally exclaimed: 'My goodness! the durned old thing's hollow.'" The Naval Secretary bore the bantering with equanimity, and remarked that the joke was a good one in its prime, but now had an ancient and fish-like smell.

After this ten minutes' of boy play before school, the President calls the meeting to order. The regular business is taken up, the Secretary of State leading off with his budget. The discussion is conducted in a conversational way. The meetings generally last about two hours.

A STRANGE MALADY AMONG TOBACCO FACTORY GIRLS.

Jersey City's Medical Talent Baffled by the New Disease---Startled by an Unfounded Rumor.

N. Y. Sun, 14th.

During the past week a novel and singular disease has manifested itself among the girls employed in Lorillard's tobacco factory, Jersey City. On the afternoon of Wednesday last Mary Hosey, aged 19, of 428 First street, who was working in the steamer department, complained of a terrible pain in her side. A few minutes afterward she fell down on the floor unconscious, and was carried to her home in an ambulance. City Physician Keating found her suffering the most intense internal pain. She was seized with violent convulsions, and while these attacks lasted the combined strength of four men was required to hold her. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Keating found that a high fever had set in. On Thursday and Friday several other cases of sickness, with similar symptoms, occurred in the factory; but it was not until Saturday that the disease, by the increased number and alarming condition of its victims, attracted the attention of a number of prominent physicians in Jersey City, who are now making it a special study.

On Saturday morning Annie Lynn, aged 18, of 338 Hudson street, while engaged in stripping tobacco, turned to the girl next to her and exclaimed, "I am going to be sick. My side aches." Immediately after uttering these words she fell to the floor, and was carried in an unconscious condition into the hallway, where she was placed on a stretcher. In the course of that day no less than thirty-four other girls were taken sick in the same department. They all displayed the same symptoms. The pain in the side was followed in almost every case by unconsciousness, convulsions, and finally hysteria and colic.

Dr. Watson and Dr. Keating held a consultation yesterday in reference to the disease. Dr. Watson afterward, in conversation with the reporter, said:

"I do not know how to account for this extraordinary malady. If a person after eating a hearty meal should go into a bad atmosphere and perform severe physical labor, colic and nausea might probably result."

"Do you think that the disease is ascribable to the volatile nicotine from the tobacco?" asked the reporter.

"Hardly. Retching is one of the commonest symptons of nicotine poisoning, and abdominal pain is not one of the symptoms. In these cases the latter has been manifested, while the former has not; and that fact, I think, disposes of the nicotine theory. Ice water taken too freely might produce cramps, but, then, if cramps from such a cause were once allayed, they would not return as they have done in these instances. The circumstance that the medical books do not record any cases of sickness resulting from working on tobacco does not prove anything, for new preparations are being constantly introduced and used in the manufacturing process."

A rumor was circulated to the effect that the girls who were taken sick had been working on some tobacco that had been stored in New Orleans during the prevalence of the yellow fever last summer, and that the sickness was occasioned by the liberation of the germs of that disease which had impregnated the tobacco. This report created the wildest excitement in the families of those who had been afflicted, and much indignation was expressed at the conduct of the managers of the factory. A number of the girls, it is said, have quitted the factory, fearing that they might become sick if they remained.

Sad Social Condition.

New York Tribune.

No less than 40,000 women of Massachusetts are still compelled to button their own gaiters. The allegation that "man proposes" does not seem to be true of the Old Commonwealth.

OAKWOOD CEMETERY.

THE QUESTION IS "WHY THIS NEGLECT?"

Is the Old Saying "Out of Sight Out of Mind" to Prove True?—A Move in the Right Direction.

Despite the announcement made public through the NEWS and the other city papers that a meeting would be held in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol on Tuesday afternoon to consider the condition of Oakwood Cemetery and take steps for improving the grounds, the attendance was small indeed, numbering not more than forty ladies and gentlemen. To those who had the worked so zealously in the cause for the past week, leaving the cool shades of home to perambulate the hot and dusty streets, going from house to house to awake an enthusiasm that might lead to a concentrated effort in this direction, the small attendance was something of a damper; they felt chagrined that after the city had been so thoroughly canvassed so few had responded to the call to attend and give their aid in rescuing from utter dilapidation the last resting place of those who had helped to make the Old North State famous in the nation, as well those who had been associated in the nearest and dearest ties in the world. Excuses for this and that person were rendered, but while they might be valid in some cases they could not reasonably pass in all. One lady appeared to believe that the true reason was, "That when we bury our dead from our sight, we only occasionally bring their graves to our remembrance." This may be a far-fetched opinion, but it is nevertheless a fact that a spirit of indifference in regard to this matter seems to prevail, and it is not creditable to our people that such a spirit should exist.

However, those who were present were earnest in the cause and evinced an earnest desire to carry on the good work, and an organization was perfected which, if it meets with the hearty cooperation of the ladies of our city, will doubtless effect the object sought to be attained.

Subjoined are the names of the officers and executive committee elected at the meeting, all of whom are notified to meet at the Senate Chamber on Tuesday next, the 22d instant, at 6 o'clock p. m.

"DARGANS RIVER COUNTRY."

"Mt. Gilead"--How the Burg Looks---Crops on the Pee Dee--Summer Frolicking, etc.

Correspondence of the News.

MT. GILEAD, July 12.—Your correspondent has had occasion to pass through portions of Rowan, Stanly, Montgomery and Richmond counties recently and has heard handsome compliments paid to the NEWS. Some say it is "a good paper," others, "The NEWS has improved greatly of late."

The crops in these counties are promising. Cotton looks remarkably well but seems to be at least two weeks late.

Albemarle, the county seat of Stanly, has improved very much in the last few years. Several handsome dwellings have been erected, and new store houses have taken the place of old ones. They have a good school at this place, conducted by two graduates of Trinity College. Ex-Legislator Freeman lives two miles from this place and exhibits a fine taste in adorning and improving his beautiful dwellings and surroundings.

MT. GILEAD

is a small village fourteen miles from Troy. It is a growing place; new houses have been and are being erected for miles on the different roads which center to this place. The McAnally Brothers do a large business here, and the Wade Brothers expect to commence business here in the fall. The Baptists and Methodists have large new churches and the community sustains a flourishing school under the management of Professor Skein.

PICNIC OF THE PEE DEE COUNTRY

on the 8th. For years the people of "Dargan's river country have met on the banks of the Pee Dee to picnic." It has been called "picnic at Stanback's ferry," but we chose to designate this one as the Pee Dee picnic. Your county was represented by Major Crenshaw and the Misses Smedes. We saw the Misses Smith, of Concord, and Miss Delong, of Monroe, and a host of pretty ladies from Anson, Richmond, Montgomery, etc. The crowd was estimated to be nearly one thousand. The harpers, of Wilmington, played while many of the young shook the fantastic toe. The Rockingham Cornet band was present, and it is by no means an inferior band. While it is not as good as some bands in the State, yet it promises soon to be equal if not superior to any. Their instruments are the softest and sweetest of any that we ever heard; with more practice and encouragement from their own Rockingham people, they need not fear taking the premium at the North Carolina State Fair. There may not be any premium for brass bands; if not, there ought to be.

The picnic was a grand success; the dinner could not be surpassed either in quantity or quality.

This is one of the wealthiest and best sections of the State. The Littles, Stanbacks, especially our friend P. N. Stanback, the Dockerys, Brookshires, etc., cannot be excelled for good American hospitality.

Colonel Steele, M. C., was born near this Ferry and he with his brothers, Robert and Thomas, were among the young at this place of enjoyment; but, perhaps as they all have silvery locks, they were looking back when they were boys and played and fished on this great stream. Robert is the industrious and energetic president of the Great Falls Manufacturing company in Rockingham, and Thomas is a large planter in Arkansas. The Colonel looks well and does not seem to feel the arduous duties of the late session of Congress. Colonel Steele is an able and true North Carolinian, and the Sixth District will make a great mistake if it does not send him back to Congress in 1880. In my next I will give some account of the manufacturing interests of Rockingham. Yours, &c., IRIS.

CHANDLER TALKS DISJOINTEDLY

The Presidential Field and the Ohio Contest as William Looks at it.

Washington Star.

"Mr. Chandler, how does the political situation strike you?"

"Well, it looks well for the success of the Republicans in 1880. You see that Mr. Hayes has now gotten to be a good Republican. He is even more bitter toward the Southern brother than I have ever been. He now realizes that the policy of aggression is better than that of conciliation with a political enemy. He seems to like his more recent policy toward the South so well that he can't get enough of it."

"Who will the Democrats nominate for the Presidency in 1880?"

"I think Tilden has the call—that is, from the present outlook, his chances are the best."

"Is he the strongest candidate?"

"No, I do not think he is. I think General Hancock would run better than Tilden. In 1868 Hancock came within an ace of the nomination, and I have always thought that had he been nominated he would have made a better canvass than Seymour did."

"Who will be the Republican nominee?"

"Well, it won't be Grant; it won't be Sherman. Blaine's chances are fair. I am for Blaine."

"How about Grant?"

"He will not be the nominee; I will tell you why: Grant cannot afford to make any scramble for the nomination. It would belittle him if he did. If Grant does not have at least two-thirds of the delegates pledged to him he will not go before the convention. If he has less than two-thirds of the convention, other candidates will dispute with him for the place. I do not think he will have half the delegates, and hence he will not suffer his friends to present his name if he has to contest with other leaders for the nomination."

"Do you think Blaine has a chance?"

"Yes, he has a chance—only a chance, though he may be the nominee. No one now mentioned has more than a chance. The politicians will kill Sherman off, and if the contest gets down to a bitter one, a negative man may be taken up, say Washburne or Zach Chandler."

"What of Chandler's chances?"

"Well, there is a disposition in some quarters to ridicule the thought of his nomination, and yet in my intercourse with the people I find that there is a decided sentiment favoring Chandler. He has courage. The people like a courageous man. I don't think Chandler has any Presidential aspirations, but the Republican party could go a good deal further for a candidate and fare a good deal worse."

"What of Ohio?"

"Well, I think the Republicans will carry the State."

"Do you think Foster's nomination a popular one?"

"No, I do not. I think that Judge Taft should have received the nomination. Foster is a poor creature; but the stake in Ohio this fall is so great that we must bury personal differences and go in to win. I like Ewing personally, but the party must be above all personal feeling."

"Has the President moved to the Soldiers' Home?"

"Yes."

"Who is out there with him?"

"Colonel Rogers and Webb Hayes, I believe."

"A fine lot of old ladies, aren't they? Since Hayes has gotten back to sleeping in the same bed with good Republicans he can't get enough of them."

"It is the Cat."

Charleston News and Courier.

Rumors of persons bitten by mad cats come in from all parts of the State. There have been three such cases in Orangeburg county within the last week or so, and a very serious case is reported at Mr. Latham's phosphate works, at John's Island Ferry. Two or three days ago his colored fireman was sitting by his fireside with his two children, when a rabid cat sprang at him, sinking his teeth in his foot so deep that it was with difficulty that he succeeded in shaking her off. Almost immediately the same cat sprang at his children, biting each of them on the feet. The man was taken ill in a short time afterward, and is now at the point of death, with a high fever and symptoms of hydrophobia. The children have not yet been affected.

Big Cow Feed.

New Berne Democrat.

Speaking of the yield of a plot of land from which a crop of peas had been taken, and which now is blooming and blossoming with a magnificent, growing crop of cotton, we said the sale of peas from ten acres netted $175 after paying all expenses. We should have said from four acres and not from ten acres.

THE PARADE YESTERDAY

A GALA DAY FOR THE COLORED PEOPLE.

A Failure on the part of the New Berne Company--The Military to Parade To-day.

Yesterday the colored people of this city and vicinity had a royal good time. In the forenoon little groups gathered in the street discussing the prospects of the arrival of the expected visitors, and constantly gathered accessions from country arrivals. About 12:30 o'clock the firemen and military formed in line and proceeded to the depot to receive the New Berne and Fayetteville companies which were expected to reach the city on that train. The train arrived, but no companies, and wonderment reigned supreme. After waiting half an hour it was ascertained that the company had reached Goldsboro, but for lack of funds was unable to get any further. The Raleigh companies swallowed their disappointment as best they might, and marched back to their quarters, resolved to have their parade anyway. Accordingly at 3 o'clock the parade was formed in front of the engine house, on Wilmington street, preceded by the colored brass band, and marched down through Lenoir into Blount, up to the Baptist Female Insitute into New Berne avenue to Edenton, down Salisbury, through into Fayetteville and up to the place of starting.

About 6 o'clock, the arrangements being completed, the two companies entered for a race against time. The distance was three hundred yards, which the Victor, with sixteen men, drawing 3,400 pounds, made in forty-seven seconds, and the Bucket company, with about a dozen men on the ropes, completed the distance in forty-six seconds. The parade then disbanded and the men repaired to Metropolitan Hall, where an exceedingly fine collation been prepared. Hams, cold meats, lemonade, ice cream, etc., were served out in no stinted measure. In the evening they enjoyed themselves dancing until a reasonable hour.

Everything passed off pleasantly and harmoniously. No drunkenness to mar the pleasures of the day, and to their great credit be it said our colored citizens know how to behave themselves on occasions of this kind. It was a source of regret to them that their brother firemen failed to make the visit, as they had made such extensive preparations to entertain them. Of all that were expected only a delegation of seven from Warrenton were present.

The members of the companies feel extremely grateful to the citizens of Raleigh for the pecuniary aid furnished them, and hope if we are so unfortunate as to be the victims of the fire fiend to be able to return the kindness in as substantial manner as they have heretofore done when their services were needed.

The NEWS learns that the Victor Company propose extending a challenge to the Charlotte company, and are willing to meet them at Greensboro or Salisbury for a contest.

To-day the colored military companies, the Oak City Blues, East Raleigh Guards and Oberlin Vance Guards, will have their parade, the expected companies from abroad not being able to come.

History and Love.

BY W. L. S. OF GEORGETOWN, D. C.

'Tis said that history repeats itself,
But as for reputation, Love, fine elf,
Beats history, for since the world began,
Love has himself repeated still,
And will
Until
The world and all its history be done,
The same old tale from age to age is told,
And ne'er grown old.

Leader.

On Friday last an election was held in Winston to determine whether or not the town would vote an appropriation of $20,000 to the C. F. & Y. R. R.; which resulted in favor of the appropriation. There were 366 votes polled. Out of this number 14 votes were cast against the appropriation. The full strength of the place is about 588 registered voters, so that there was a majority of 67 of all the registered votes. This is a step we think Winston did well to take.

No Show for a Poor Man.

Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

It is estimated that the hand of a printer who sets 8,000 ems a day will travel 48,000 feet, picking up about 24,000 letters. There is a compositor in the Chronicle office who, every time he sets up a long sentence, travels into the next saloon for a drink. He sets about 2,500 ems a day, and walks altogether about four and a half miles after beer. His strong objection to the country is that poor men have no show here.

DAILY NEWS

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

THURSDAY, - - - JULY 17, 1879.

POLITICAL ROBBERY.

Mr. Hayes said, some two years ago, in the form of an order.

No assessment, for political purposes on officers or subordinates should be allowed.

As we understand the matter, Mr. Hayes still holds to that opinion, but now regards it merely as a matter of opinion. As a patriot, he is convinced that this order was the correct thing; as a partisan, he considers it an immense mistake.

So that, as we learn from Tuesday's Washington Post, a "general assessment is to be levied upon all the Government of employees throughout the country in behalf of the Ohio canvass. Lists will be made out embracing the names of all Government employees in each State, and giving the amount of salary each gets; these lists will be sent to the Republican committees of the States respectively, with the urgent advice that they at once send collectors into the custom-houses, post offices, navy yards and other public establishments to gather in a percentage of the salaries. State committees will be requested to forward the money collected to the Congressional committee at Washington, who will put it where it will do the most good. The confidential circular to be addressed to State committees will set forth that the Democratic party is devoting all its power to success in Ohio, and that money will be used unsparingly in behalf of the Democratic ticket; therefore, the Congressional committee calls upon all true Republicans to aid them in defeating the party of States rights and secession, inasmuch as a victory for Democracy in Ohio would be equivalent to a declaration that the war was a failure. Persons holding office under the Government will be specially appealed to and urgently beseeched to come forward with contributions without delay, and they will be reminded that Republican defeat in Ohio this year will greatly endanger the chances of the party for the Presidency next year. The State committees will be properly advised in regard to the Washington method of levying assessments, in order that Government employees throughout the country may understand that refusal to contribute will call for the removal.

This is familiar Republican practice It is nothing less than highway robbery. That it is not punishable as a felony today is due to the obstruction policy employed by the Radicals in the last Congress. Day after day until the day of adjournment the Radicals, led by the redoubtable Conger, prevented a vote on the Senate bill. Apart from the injustice of the assessment it is a species of political corruption that no honest people will tolerate.

COLLECTOR POWERS SUSPENDED.

Two accounts come from Washington of the suspension of revenue collector Powers, of the second district. Mr. Richardson, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, whom we know to be one of the most reliable journalists at the national capitol, telegraphs his paper as follows:

The President to-day suspended Powers, the internal revenue collector in North Carolina, whose resignation was asked for several weeks ago, he declining to resign unless charges of incompetency or misconduct were made against him. It seems that he was a good officer, but he got mixed up in the faction quarrels existing among the Republicans of North Carolina, and in so doing showed hostility to the candidacy of Sherman for President. His successor is Elihu A. White, a quaker and a native of the State, who is willing to give the Sherman cause a fair show.

If the Sun's version is true a clean sweep of Federal officials will follow. But its entire accuracy may be questioned. The account of the same matter given by the Washington Star, a semi-official administration paper, presents the case in a very different aspect. The Star says:

The President to-day suspended Thos. Powers, collector of Internal Revenue for the second district of North Carolina, and appointed in his stead Elihu A. White. This change seems to be the culmination of a fight that has been going on for some time between the two factions of North Carolina Republicans. Powers, the man suspended, was opposed by what is called the native Republicans. It is also stated that he was opposed to Secretary Sherman's candidacy for the Presidency, and that white the incoming man, is in favor of the Secretary. Mr. Sherman, has, however, denied in toto that such an objection was made to Powers, and states that the opposition to him in the Treasury department is based wholly on the manner in which the business of his office has been conducted.

The NEWS has information, obtained from a semi-official source, to the contray. Mr. Powers, according to this information, has administered his office efficiently. That Mr. Powers should permit his conscience to stand between him and a good fat office seems to us most extraordinary conduct in a Radical officeholder. Hence we doubt the Sun's version.

Sherman is a thoroughly debauched politician, and in his shameless and disgraceful intriguing for the Presidential nomination he would not hesitate or scruple to employ any means to that end.

Mr. Powers is entitled to the benefit of any doubts we may have in the premises.

THE MAINE OUTLOOK.

The Portland correspondent of the Boston Herald thus sums up the situation in Maine:

But, in spite of these influences, and notwithstanding the bragging they are doing, I do not see how the Republicans are going to win. It is pretty early yet, but let us look at the figures and

CONSIDER THE PROSPECT.

The largest vote ever polled in the State, 136,823, was thrown in 1876. The average for the last ten years has been about 108,000. This will be considerably exceeded in September. Last year's vote was:

Connor, Rep.	55,554
Smith, Gr.	41,371
Garcelon, Dem.	28,208
Majority against Connor	13,025

Here are a few guesses at the September vote. The chairman of the Democratic State committee, within the last two or three days, has estimated:

Smith,	55,000
Davis,	45,000
Garcelon,	20,000

Ten days ago one of the anti-Republican Congressmen put this on record:

Smith,	55,000
Davis,	40,000
Garcelon,	10,000

Friday night an active Republican politician in the Fourth district, who believes that Pemberton is to be reclaimed by the Davis men, and that Piscataquis is sure for them (not to say most all the other counties), reckoned thus:

Smith,	52,000
Davis,	65,000
Garcelon,	8,000

It will be seen that there is considerable diversity here, but this is by no means the extent of it. Solon Chase claims 70,000 for Smith, and so do others. The candidates themselves are more conservative. Major Smith looks for a plurality, but does not expect an election by the people, though he does rather look to be next Governor. Mr. Davis is hopeful, but hardly so sanguine as his rival. I doubt if Governor Garcelon has any expectations at all. He is a sensible old man, and has lost some of the hopefulness of youth. If your correspondent was obliged to give a guess now, he would reflect upon the facts that the Greenbackers made great gains during the winter and spring, but that now the current is setting the other way, and, being unable to measure the depth and velocity of that current, or to tell how long it will continue to flow, he would figure about as follows:

Smith,	58,000
Davis,	55,000
Garcelon,	12,000

Result—no choice.

THE affecting story of Dr. Alexander Clark's untimely death at Governor Colquitt's home in Atlanta, Ga., and his visit to Yaddin College has already been told in the NEWS. The last work of this great and good man was among a strange people for whom he expressed the warmest feelings. In a letter to a friend in Baltimore, written a few days before his death, he spoke thus, gratefully and kindly of the Southern people: "The kindnesses of "these Southern people are without "limit. Some time I hope to tell you of "it; it is too sacred to write. Governor "Colquitt has taken me to his own "home, the Executive Mansion, a par"adise among the the trees, and here I "have every possible attention. The "Governor, amidst all his official duties "has time to be the Christain brother." It may be added that Governor Colquitt had never seen Dr. Clark until he heard of his illness at the Atlanta Hotel, and visited him.

Dr. Clark was a Northern man.

How they do at the White House, what they do and what sort of people go there, and what they go there for is told in the NEWS to-day. The Evening Star has the entree to the White House, by reason of the nondescript character of its politics. What the NEWS copies from it to-day will give the reader a correct idea of how "the thing is managed." Curious and laughable incidents are of daily occurrence.

Quinine.

THE RETAILER'S PROFITS.

Chicago Tribune.

A reporter for the Tribune questioned a leading retail druggist yesterday as to the profits resulting from the sale of quinine.

"What do you pay per ounce for this article?" was asked.

"We pay the wholesaler $3.45 per ounce."

"For how much do you sell it by the ounce,"

"We get $4. This gives us a profit of 55 cents per ounce."

"You sell a great deal in the shape of pills. What is the retail price of one dozen one-grain pills?"

"It is 25 cents. The profit on these is 7½ cents."

"In selling quinine in powder, what do you get for say fifteen grains?"

"We get 25 cents. This nets us a profit of 10 cents."

"Take a sixty-grain package (one drachm), how much for it?"

"The retail price is 85 cents. There is a profit of 35 cents to us on this?"

"In selling three-grain pills, what price do you place on them?"

"Twenty-five cents per dozen."

"And the profit?"

"It is about 30 cents."

"In figuring the price of quinine pills to the customer, what do you charge for boxes?"

"The boxes and labels average about 20 cents per dozen."

"Have you taken into consideration the cost of labor in making up the pills or putting up a prescription in estimating these profits?"

"No. It would take a great deal of time to do this."

The same gentleman further observed that it had always seemed strange to him that, with the great profits of the business which had accrued to the leading quinine manufacturing establishment in America; the field had not been occupied by others as well. When it is ascertained that a business is so remunerative there is generally a pretty strong opposition. It might have been that the firm in question had a monopoly on cinchona bark, or were possessed of some secret in the manufacture of quinine that kept others from engaging in competition with them.

WHY?

O rose! bonny red rose!
Nodding your head in the sun,
Dying with daylight's close—
Your mission and duty done.
Scattered your petals lie,
Crushed 'neath the passers' feet;
While the soft South wind flits by,
Bearing on your fragrance sweet.

O rose! velvety rose!
How like unto thine my fate!

The cause, while I stand and wait—
Stand and wait, though my heart
Yearneth the reason to know
Why love, of life a part,
Must droop ere the roses go?

Blossoming bright in the sun,
Colored with brandy and cloves
Empurpled with whisky and rum,
Pulpy old proboscis, you lie
Like an over-ripened beet:
We sniff, as you pass us by,
A fragrance far from sweet.

O nose! bulbous old nose!
How like unto my fate!
The devil only knows
How dry I am while I wait—
Wait at the bar, though my throat
Yearneth the reason to know
Why no one cometh to treat
Ere the bar-keeper shall shut up and go.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Correspondence of the News.

DURHAM, July 9.—It always stirs me up to visit Durham. The Chicago of the South is such a lively town, and has so much the appearance of a bee-hive one becomes innoculated with the energy and vim of the young city as naturally as he would catch the itch, should he encamp with a regiment of soldiers affected with the disease. Tobacco is the life of Durham, and should you ever come here you will be expected to talk tobacco, discuss tobacco, chew and smoke tobacco, write about tobacco and go away meditating on tobacco.

I have, since I have been here, of course, been talking tobacco, and I think I have now enough information on the subject to write a little about it.

The first growing tobacco ever known by white men was found in North Carolina, and the first real notice ever taken of it was when Sir Walter Raleigh carried a sample of it from North Carolina across the water and presented it to Queen Elizabeth, of England, and from that time to the present day, the Old North State as a tobacco producer has ranked higher than any country in the world.

During the war a smoking tobacco factory was established at Durham Station, as it was then called, and then, with the exception of the railroad station-house and two small residences, the factory was the only house in the place. After the war, this small factory was re-established, and from that insignificant beginning the immense tobacco trade which the present city of Durham is engaged in sprang up, and that trade has changed Durham Station, a wood and water station of the North Carolina Railroad, to the young city of Durham, which on account of its activity and business-push enjoys the sobriquet of "the Chicago of the South."

The rapid consumption of the raw material by the manufacture of smokers' goods, necessitated the establishment of a ware house here for the sale by auction of the weed, and H. A Reams, Esq., in 1871, established the old Durham Warehouse.

Mr. Reams, the pioneer warehouse man, rented an old factory, fitted it up for a temporary warehouse, and on the 18th day of May, 1871, sold the first pile of leaf tobacco ever disposed of by auction in the town of Durham.

Mr. Reams' unflinching energy and indomitable will and push, soon made Durham a market of no mean proportions for the sale of the leaf. Farmers began to bring in their crops from the counties of Orange, Alamance, Person, Caswell, Granville, Rockingham and others; and in the latter part of 1871, Mr. Reams found that he must enlarge his facilities, if he wished to accommodate his now large and constantly increasing trade; and so in 1872 he built the first house which was erected in Durham solely for a warehouse.

Durham continued to grow rapidly, and its tobacco trade seemed to go forward by jumps and strides, and so in 1876 Mr. Reams found that his immense trade demanded a second enlargement of his facilities, and he built his present large and commodious establishment, which he christened

REAMS' WAREHOUSE.

This establishment is 175 feet long by 40 in width, with 14,000 square feet of floor-room, being the largest, most commodious and best lighted establishment of its kind in North Carolina. Mr. Reams has a whole square for a wagon-yard, in which can be found excellent stalls for the stock, with ample accommodations for the planters and drivers in the airy lodging and cook rooms; and when we add to this list of conveniences the two splendid wells of water in the yard, we have the most complete catalogue of warehouse arrangements and conveniences in North Carolina or elsewhere.

Mr. Reams is ably assisted in the management of his mammoth busine s by a most able corps of clerks, etc. The first on the list being Mr. Joseph H. Allen, of Person county, chief clerk. Mr. Allen has been with Reams ever since he first embarked in the business in 1871, and during that time has made a reputation as a book-keeper and accountant second to that of no man's in the land. It is a common remark that "Joe Allen is the best book-keeper in the State."

Mr. C. A. W. Barham, auctioneer, has been in the business so long that rapid talking and crying of bids has become second nature with him. He is popular with buyers and sellers, and he enjoys the fullest confidence of both, a virtue which it is very necessary for a tobacco auctioneer to possess.

Colonel J. C. Wilkinson, the general manager and canvasser, is one of the most popular men in Durham. He is a son of the venerable Stephen Wilkinson, of Person. Mr. Wilkinson is well known all over the tobacco growing section of the State, and enjoys a popularity among the people which could easily elect him to any office within their gift, were he politically inclined.

Mr. R. A Allen is the correct weigh-master, while Mr. C. F. Reams holds the responsible position of floor-manager.

I had the pleasure of attending a sale in this house some days ago, and was really astonished to see how hard Mr. Reams and his men worked for the interest of the farmer. I had been led to believe the warehouse-man's business was merely to put the tobacco on the floor and let the auctioneer knock it out to the highest bidder, but at Reams' I find that the farmers' goods receive the constant attention during the sale of this most able corps of warehouse-men, and that attention may be summed up in the two words, "hard work."

Mr. Reams' trade is so large he frequently has to turn off some of his customers, owing to his inability to accommodate them, and hence another enlargement of his establishment is actually necessary. He now has a large number of carpenters and brick-masons at work building an addition to his house which will exactly double his room and capacity. This addition will be completed very soon, and then he will have a warehouse more than double the size of any similar establishment in the State. Reams' will then be, as now, the best lighted house I know of, as it will have thirty-two sky-lights, containing ten to twenty panes of glass, making in all 2,128 square feet of glass.

It is said that figures do not lie, and hence I propose to give some figures which I saw obtained at Reams' the other day. Mr. O. V. Hargis sold at Reams' five lots of tobacco which brought him the handsome average prices of $62.10 per hundred. Mr. R. J. Aiken sold the same day four lots which averaged $63.80 per hundred. Mr. J. M. Blalock sold a pile for $125.00 per hundred, while Mr. W. P. Gates got $140.00 for a fine pile. Mr. William Williams got $68.20 average for four grades, while Mr. A. M. Veazy went off happy, having sold for such figures as $65, $70 and $81. During this day Reams' sale was 17,018 pounds, for which he obtained $8,828.83, being an average of $51.83 per hundred on the whole sale.

Durham sold during the last tobacco year, ending October 1, 1878, 10,000,000 (ten million) pounds of tobacco, of which Reams sold very nearly half.

It is not my business to give advice to farmers, for they generally know their own business, but I am sure if I were a tobacco raiser I should sell in Durham, and would be pretty sure to go to Reams' warehouse for that purpose.

A Durham letter would be incomplete without some mention of the smoking tobacco interest. I presume more smoking tobacco is manufactured in Durham than in any place in the United States. This is saying a great deal, but it is true, nevertheless; and that which is made here stands higher and sells more readily than any in the world. Among the leading factories here is that of Mr. E. H. Pogue, which is a large and flourishing establishment. I had the pleasure of walking over Mr. Pogue's factory, and as many of your readers know but little of a real tobacco factory, I propose to tell them what I know about a very extensive one.

Pogue manufactures both chewing and smoking tobacco, and puts up some of the most popular brands known on the market. His factory was formerly situated in the town of Hillsboro, where he commenced the manufacture of the now famous brand of smoking tobacco known as "Sitting Bull." Finding that he could enjoy better facilities here for meeting the demands of his extensive and constantly increasing trade, Mr. Pogue, on the 1st day of May last, having completed his large double three-story factory, moved to Durham. His factory, is situated on Railroad street, is a large three-story building with a basement underneath and is supplied with all the latest and most improved machinery. There are two departments in it—that for smoking tobacco, and one for the manufacture of chewing. In the smoking tobacco department are employed a very large number of proficient hands who are kept busy cutting, granulating, flavoring, bagging, stamping, boxing and marking the famous "Sitting Bull." Mr. Pogue uses in the manufacture of the "Sitting Bull" no stock under two years old, and most of it is from that to five years old. His flavoring and style of using it is of a superior and peculiar kind which is known only to Mr. Pogue and his manager. This superior flavoring is a profound secret, which has made "The Sitting Bull" the best smoking tobacco now on the market, and is rapidly making for its owner a handsome fortune. The tobacco is put up in two ounces, four ounces, half pound and pound bags, and is then packed in any size wood and paper boxes for shipment. "Sitting Bull" goes all over the United States, and is, thus early in its existence, beginning to invade foreign lands; Mr. Pogue having filled several orders across the water.

In the rear part of the large building, Mr. Pogue's various popular brands of chewing tobacco are made. In this department another large number of hands are constantly at work, and there too will be found the very best hydraulic presses and all the other late improvements in tobacco machinery, all of which being run by steam give Mr. Pogue ample facilities for rapidly turning out the very best work.

The brands of plug tobacco which are most popular and keep Pogue most busy in supplying the demand are "Legal Tender," "Gold Dollar," "General Bragg" and "Old Reliable." These are all superior plug tobaccoes and find a ready sale in all the leading markets of the land. In addition to these famous brands Mr. Pogue puts up to order all the popular styles of plug which are known among tobacco men as 6, 9, 10, 11 and 12 inch goods. He also manufactures the very best six and eleven inch twist, his large establishment being amply supplied with all the modern improvements in twist shapes, presses, etc. Pogue's factory is among the largest buildings in Durham, and yet it is not large enough as I will presently explain. The extreme front rooms beneath, are used for offices, sample and sales rooms. The next rooms, both up stairs and below, compose the smoking tobacco department, while the rear portion of the building is used for the chewing department. To the rear of the building, a few feet off, are built the engine rooms and drying houses.

Mr. Pogue's business has increased so rapidly since he has been in Durham he finds that he must enlarge his establishment, and he is now preparing to erect a brick addition, which will just double the present size of the factory and make it one of the largest in the South. When this addition shall be completed (by the first of next year) it will be used as the chewing department, while the present building will be entirely devoted to the manufacture of "Sitting Bull."

Mr. L. C. H. Brown, the most efficient general manager of this mammoth establishment, kindly took your correspondent all over the building and explained the different departments of work to me, and I being not a "tobacco worm" found many things that were new and interesting to me. To a person who has never seen one, a complete tobacco factory is quite a curiosity.

Mr. Brown has the reputation of being the best factory manager in Durham or elsewhere. He has been in the business from his youth up, and not only knows how the work should be done, but can pitch in and do it himself.

It is no small job to manage as large and varied an establishment as Mr. Pogue's, and keep all the hands at their work and busy. Mr. Brown does all this with the utmost ease, and seems to be perfectly at home among the benches and hydraulic presses, and shapes and cutters, etc.

My Durham notes are not half exhausted, but I have already made this letter so long I will have to stop here.

More anon. ROB ROY.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATE,

The police proceeded to the spot when it was found that a drunken man had seized a shot gun and threatened to annihilate his brother-in-law and the rest of the world generally. They put a stop to his fun, and peace reigned once more.

The members of William G. Hill Lodge, No. 218, F. & A. M., are hereby notified to attend a special meeting this evening, for the purpose of working the first degree.

Supreme Court.

Court met at 10 o'clock. All the Justices present.

All the cases from the seventh district having been argued, the Justices sat in conference.

A license to practice law was granted to John Fox Cobbs, of Person county.

Killed on the Track.

Last night the "Shoo Fly" train ran over a negro at "Barney Johnson's Crossing" on the N. C. R. R., killing him instantly. The train was backed up and he was picked up. He was badly mangled, his head being crushed and one leg was cut off just below the knee. His name was John Sherman, and he belonged at Clayton.

To Teachers in the Public Schools.

The General Assembly of 1878-'9 enacted that "Moore's History of North Carolina" shall be used in the common schools of the State as a text-book. The book is now ready for delivery and will be furnished to the schools at seventy cents per copy, postage free. Private schools will be supplied at same price. Address, Alfred Williams & Co., Publishers, Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond Female Institute.

The NEWS is in receipt of a catalogue of this Institution, which has for twenty-five years stood most prominent among the schools of the South. It has not been in so flourishing a condition since the war. J. B. Jeter, D. D., is the president of the board of trustees; Miss Hanmer, the principal, is not only one of the most accomplished women of the South, but is possessed of almost wonderful executive ability, so necessary to success. See advertisement in another column.

Mayor's Court.

Alice Christian having preferred a complaint against her liege lord Henry, for abandonment, he was led before the Mayor for trial. She claims that he doesn't support her, and he doesn't claim anything. There was the usual lot of know-nothing witnesses, and as she had already made the charge that Henry's conduct with Eliza Freeman was anything but exemplary, which case will come off Friday morning, judgment was suspended, and Henry furnished security for his appearance.

Important to Cotton Dealers.

Treasurer Worth has decided that cotton dealers who purchase for themselves, or as agents for others, are subject to the tax of one-tenth of one per cent. on their purchases. He has also decided that merchants who make advances upon liens and, in addition to goods furnished, advanced money and receive cotton in payment, are subject to the purchase tax to the amount of money advanced.

Democratic Bulldozing in Warren.

In Warren county, North Carolina, the negroes own 12,483 acres of land, valued at $66,157. According to the Republican theory this valuable property has been acquired while the negroes were pursued and slaughtered day after day by the fierce Southern planters armed with shotguns.

Rev. Dr. Pritchard.

This eminent Baptist divine was yesterday elected President of Wake Forest College. We congratulate Wake Forest College. A better selection, in our opinion, could not have been made. Dr. Pritchard is eminently qualified to succeed the dead Wingate, combining learning with fine executive ability. He is one of the brightest preachers in the State, and the pulpit of Salisbury Street Baptist Church will sustain a great loss. The city loses one of its most popular preachers. We have no doubt that he will make a better president than either of the distinguished divines who declined the honor. He is a representative North Carolinian and we felicitate the cause of education in the State in the accession to its ranks of such an ally. Dr. Pritchard will remove his family to the college and begin his official duties at the beginning of the next collegiate year, September 1st.

In Relation to the Cemetery.

Last week a case was reported to and acted upon by the Mayor where a colored man, Sol. Young, had chosen to exercise the functions devolved by city ordinances upon the city sexton. Many others among the colored people labor under the delusion that they, owning lots in the Cemetery, have a right to dig graves for members of their family on the ground that they are unable to pay the established charges to the sexton. This course, as will be seen by the subjoined extracts from the city ordinances, is positively prohibited, and any person so offending renders himself amenable to the law, which will be strictly enforced in future case. Prevention of crime as well as disease renders this a positive necessity:

SECTION 3. Each sexton shall have the digging of all the graves in his cemetery, at such prices as are herein after established, as part of his compensation. [These prices as established in § 8 vary from $2 to $4, according to style and size.]

§ 9. No person other than the regularly appointed sexton, shall dig any grave, or dig up any sod in the cemetery, * * * under a penalty of $20 for each offense.

§ 23. The sextons of the City and colored Cemeteries and the Oakwood Cemetery shall have within their respective cemeteries the power and authority of policemen, and may arrest any person for any violation of the ordinances of the city or of the regulations of their respective cemeteries. The same authority shall be exercised by their legally appointed assistants.

A New Form of Investment.

The influx of wealth into this country after the past seven years of dullness is beginning to increase the speculative feeling in all channels of trade. Already the business centres are lively with the praises of mining, manufacturing, railroad, real estate and other speculations; but strange to say, so great is the well deserved confidence in the strict integrity characterizing every action of the managers of the celebrated Louisiana Lottery that its tickets for the monthly grand drawings which cost two dollars each are a favorites purchase of the leading bankers and brokers in all the large cities. M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or at No. 319 Broadway, New York city, will give all desired information.

Our Australian Trade.

Since the establishment of the Pacific line of steamers, the trade between the United States and Australia has increased wonderfully, and Hall's Balsam, for coughs, colds and all lung diseases, is now a regular article of export to that country, and one of their staple medicines.

Sale of a Newspaper.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 15.—The Commercial newspaper establishment was sold by receiver Wilson to-day to General Eli H. Murray, for $2,000. The publication of the paper will be continued.

Yadkin College.

This institution, advertised in the NEWS, opens August 14th. Board $6.75 per month. Tuition from $12.50 to $20 per term. Mr. Simpson, President of ot the College, now in the city, will answer any questions addressed to him at Yadkin College, North Carolina.

Healthfulness.

A distinguished physician says: "After a careful examination of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, I am satisfied that it is a wholesome preparation. I have introduced it among my patients, and have yet to learn where a convalescent patient could not indulge in warm biscuits made with it, and feel the better for it.

Coughing in Church.

No place in the world equals London for the constant barking kept up in the churches. It is like a perpetual fusilade of small arms. Why don't they take Hall's Balsam and get rid of their coughs? It is the most wonderful remedy, and the proprietors warrant it in every instance. Let all coughers give it a trial.

Town Talk

Has again been revived and emanates from M. Grausman's grocery store.

The Talk of Town

more commonly called Town Talk is in full blast at M. Grausman's.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

C. C. CLAWSON,
No. 10 Fayetteville St.

For Congress.—The fame of the average Congressman is of such short lived duration that it seems hardly worth while now to pay $20,000 for an election. Who wants the nomination in our district? for there is nothing equal to Henry's Carbolic Salve for the cure of all sores, wounds, cuts and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits.

Good Results of Life Insurance.

Another practical illustration of the value of Life Insurance is found to exist in the fact that the Ætna Life Insurance Company through their General Agent, W. H. Full Measure.

While most of the so-called two ounce flavoring extract bottles hold but one and one quarter ounces, and the four ounces less than three ounces, Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are full measure, strong, pure and natural as the fruit from which they are derived.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, ESQ., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.
